Sempra Named One of America's Most Innovative Businesses

November 23, 2026

Company Earns 4.5-Star Rating for Innovation, Technology and R&D Investment by Business Insider

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 23, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- Sempra (NYSE: SRE) has been named to Business Insider's inaugural America's Most Innovative Businesses 2027 list, earning a 4.5-star rating. The ranking recognizes U.S. companies that demonstrate strong innovation performance through industry leadership, technological impact and investment in research and development.

"Innovation and continued improvement are fundamental to how we serve customers and create long-term value for our stakeholders," said Jeffrey W. Martin, chairman and CEO of Sempra. "Across our companies, talented employees are finding new ways to help modernize our business, strengthen safety and reliability and drive operational excellence. This recognition reflects their commitment to shaping our company's future as we advance our mission to build America's leading utility growth business."

Advancing innovation in America's energy networks
Sempra's approach to innovation centers on modernizing energy networks and deploying next-generation technology at scale. By investing in people, systems and new capabilities, the company is working to deliver smarter, more resilient energy solutions while helping its utilities meet growing energy demand in California and Texas. These investments support Sempra's strategy to deliver long-term value for shareholders and enhanced benefits for consumers and communities.

Business Insider developed America's Most Innovative Businesses 2027 in partnership with Plant-A Insights Group. The study screened more than 4,000 publicly traded U.S. companies and recognized the 500 highest-scoring businesses. Companies were assessed across three pillars: reputation, technological impact and investment in research and development. The evaluation included a nationwide survey of more than 67,000 U.S. professionals, who provided more than 260,000 peer-to-peer evaluations.

Sempra received a 4.5-star rating and was among 14 companies recognized in the utilities industry. Moreover, this recognition adds to a series of honors received this year that highlight Sempra's strong operational performance and high-performance culture, including:

- The Wall Street Journal's Best Companies for the Future
- Fortune's World's Most Admired Companies
- The Wall Street Journal's Management Top 250
- U.S. News & World Report's Best Companies to Work For
- Forbes' America's Best Employers for Company Culture

About Sempra
Sempra's mission is to build America's leading utility growth business. As owner of one of the largest energy networks on the continent, Sempra is electrifying and improving energy resilience in California and Texas, the two largest economies in the U.S. The company is recognized as a leader in responsible business practices and for its high-performance culture focused on safety and operational excellence, as demonstrated by Sempra's inclusion in The Wall Street Journal's Management Top 250 and Fortune's World's Most Admired Companies. More information about Sempra is available at sempra.com, including investor.sempra.com/corporate-updates which contains important information for investors, and on social media @sempra.

We use the investor.sempra.com/corporate-updates webpage as a means of disclosing important information to investors, some of which may be material, and complying with our disclosure obligations under SEC Regulation FD. The information on this webpage is supplemental to the information we disseminate to investors through other channels, including filings with the SEC, press releases, and public conference calls and webcasts, and investors should monitor all these sources for material information about us.

View original content to download multimedia:https://www.prnewswire.com/news-releases/sempra-named-one-of-americas-most-innovative-businesses-302948623.html

SOURCE Sempra

Media Contact: Patrick Reynolds, Sempra, (877) 340-8875, media@sempra.com; Financial Contact: Eric Llamas, Sempra, (877) 736-7727, investor@sempra.com